Minden Parks plans get little attention

The absolute lack of progress on recommendations from two Minden Township Park Masterplans caused a stir at Thursday's council meeting, as councillors debated the necessity of updating the plan a second time.

At the June 11 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council, councillors Verne Graham and Bob Sisson were asked to investigate three proposals from consulting firms to update the plan. They reported back Thursday with some less-than inspiring news about earlier plans.

In the past 15 years, the township has had two elaborate plans completed, said Graham. However, not one recommendation from these plans has been carried out, he said.

"If we do another plan, there should be a guarantee the work will be implemented," he said. "There has to be a commitment that the work will be completed." He says he does not understand why nothing was carried out after the first two plans were completed.

While it is necessary to have an official plan completed in order to obtain ministry grants for the work, council is annoyed at the futility of the exercise. Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said, "If we're going to sit on our butts until the grant comes through, we'll be in the same situation next year."

Nesbitt suggested that council take the $75,000 it has in reserve for parks work and get started on at least one of the recommendations from the last plan. Councillor Sisson agreed. "Forget the grants, forget the plans and go ahead and do it," he said.

However, Graham argued that no work should be carried out unless a new plan has been drafted. Minden's parks are in a "horrible situation" he said. The playground equipment is broken down, there are few park benches and the grass is not well maintained. However, he said everything should be left on hold unless an update of the plan is carried out.

"We have the potential for some of the best park land in the county," Graham told council. He said he has no reservations about recommending council accept the lowest tender to update the plan.

"We used one of the other companies in the past and nothing has come out of it," said Graham. Stefan Bolliger Associates came in with the lowest bid for the update at $5,850. The previous plan was completed by Totten, Sims, Hubicki and Associates, which had the highest tender this time around of $10,700.

Graham said the recommendations from the last plan would have cost the township more than $450,000 if the work had been carried out when the plan was completed in 1976. He said there are no guarantees that recommendations from a new plan will be any more feasible but said he has "No intention of letting it sit on a shelf again."

Council voted to accept the lowest bid for the update with Deputy Reeve Bern Berry going on record as opposing the motion. Half the cost of the update will be covered by a ministry grant.

Copter crashes near Dorset

A helicopter crash near Dorset Friday evening has injured two members of the Canadian Forces 411 Air Reserve Squadron based in Downsview. One of those injured was the squadron's commanding officer, Lieutenant Colonel Fred McCabe. The other occupant of the craft was not identified at press time.

Captain Don Roy, Information Officer for the Department of National Defense said the helicopter was a Kiowa single engine aircraft. He said the helicopter was used by the Air Reserve for training flights. Although he was uncertain as to what the helicopter was doing in the area, he speculated that the men were on a training exercise when it crashed in a swampy area southwest of Dorset.

The two passengers in the craft suffered only minor injuries in the forced landing.

An investigation into the cause of the incident is expected to be carried out by the Department of National Defense. It is not known how or when the damaged helicopter will be removed from the bush. A spokesman for the Bracebridge detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, said the mishap occurred in an area which was difficult to reach on foot.

Commencement was held at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Thursday, June 25. The grade 13 graduating class included Stephanie Bain, Ian Cooper, Jennifer Gentle, Jeffrey Hancock, Michele Harrison, Anthony Hartin, Paul Kuno, Tran LaRue, Michael MacNaull, Christopher Miscio, Shannon Robertson, Eoin Ross, Michael Rutter, Barry Scully, Jamie Stata and Leanne Thomas, some of whom are pictured above.

Contract gives teachers 4.5 per cent hike

The elementary school teachers serving county schools have reached a two year agreement with the Board of Education. The contract was ratified June 23 at the board's regular meeting. It had been formally endorsed previously by both groups of teachers.

The contract calls for a 4.5% across the board increase during the first year, with an increase for the second year based on cost of living formula, plus one percent. The contract covers the teachers from September 1987 to August 1989.

According to the chief negotiators for the teachers and the board, the agreement was reached quickly and without any animosity between the two sides.

Board negotiator Cheryl Murdoch, trustee for Lutterworth described the negotiating as a "pleasant process". She said that both sides bargained in good faith. Both teacher representatives, Dianne Claus for the elementary teachers and Dave Mowat for the high school instructors, endorsed that comment. Claus said there was an atmosphere of mutual respect by the teachers and the board in discussions. She said she was pleased with the amiable settlement, noting it would be difficult for the two sides to work together for the benefit of the students if negotiations are difficult or if it had been necessary to strike.

This is the first time in 15 years that the secondary school teachers had a two year contract. In the past, negotiations had covered only a single year. A number of two year contracts had been negotiated with the elementary teachers in the past.

This is also the second time since the county-wide board was formed that a cost of living agreement had been included in the contract.

Murdoch said that the board was willing to accept this formula for the second year of the contract, since the trustees felt it would not be fair to ask the teachers to consider a two year pact without some form of

Hyland Crest 'a place to live'

Coping with the steadily increasing senior population in Ontario is a situation that must be addressed by communities throughout the province. And in Haliburton County, where seniors already make up close to 20 per cent of the population, those involved in the care of the elderly are dealing with the situation in a manner that could very well set the pattern for other communities to follow in the future.

"Haliburton has the highest percentage of persons 65 and over in the province," says Karl Samuelson, administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. For this reason, the problems being faced by communities across the province are magnified here, forcing the area to be more creative in designing programs for its seniors.

Smauelson is proud of the level of services provided at Hyland Crest and is anxious to dispel the public image of the retirement home as a place to die.

"They come here to live," Samuelson insists. "They don't come here to die." He says Hyland Crest is a small community within a larger community. While the capabilities of the residents may be diminished, they still have the same needs.

This community spirit is readily evident at Hyland Crest. The hallways are decorated with photographs of residents enjoying activities in and outside of the home. A bulletin board is virtually littered with posters advertising coming events. The residents have even gone so far as to form their own level of government to ensure their needs are met.

"The residents have a say in what goes on at the home," says Samuelson. A residents' council meets each month to solve any problems that arise and Samuelson attends all these meetings to ensure their voices are heard.

While the idea of a residents' council is not unique to Hyland Crest, the level of importance placed on the council's requests is. Samuelson believes the staff have to be accountable to the residents. "If at all possible, we will deliver on their requests. If not, we will let them know why."

Samuelson's philosophy of the relationship between the staff and residents is evidence of this. He believes that staff members are guests of the residents. "It's their (the residents') home. We are fortunate enough to work here," he says. "it's our job to provide them with the opportunity to pursue their former lifestyles."

He insists that the staff abides by this philosophy in dealing with the residents' daily needs. "The staff must understand we are working in a special environment. If they feel this is a special place to work, then welcome aboard," he says. "If they feel it is just another job, then it's better that they went elsewhere."

While Hyland Crest has most of the infrastructures to form a community on its own, Samuelson encourages residents to maintain their ties with the outside community.

He says the residents' continued relationship with the outside community is vital in guaranteeing their lives can remain much the same as before they came to Hyland Crest. "I feel here that each person has their right to live in an environment that promotes personal independence, self reliance, freedom of choice and respect for each other," says Samuelson. He says everyone has unique needs that can not always be met at the home. "Each person has the same diverse social,

Man killed in highway mishap

A 57 year old Scarborough man is dead following an early-morning accident on Highway 35 south of Minden last Tuesday.

Roy Kingdon was killed when he was thrown from a van in which he was a passenger as it swerved on to the shoulder of the road and rolled along the highway.

Two other passengers in the van were not present when police arrived at the scene about 1:45 a.m.

However, investigation revealed that Ronald Dunkerly, 22, of Scarborough, and Eric Thompson, 20, of Toronto had also been in the 1980 Chevrolet van at the time of the accident. Both sustained minor injuries.

Police have also established that Dunkerly was the driver of the van at the time of the accident.

Charges are pending further investigation by Constable Bob Wood.

Man charged with assault

Harry Henry, a 22 year old Haliburton area man, has been charged with assault causing bodily harm after an incident in Stanhope Township on the evening of June 19.

The victim, Donna Kartes, 20, of R.R. 1 Haliburton, suffered a broken nose and black eyes as a result of the assault, police report.

Henry will appear in Provincial Court in Minden on August 5. Constable Al Bibby investigated the incident.

In other news from the Minden OPP, thieves have taken three aluminum boats over the past few weeks. A 14 foot McCulloch aluminum boat with a blue interior was stolen from Skin Lake. A 15 foot Springbok aluminum boat was taken from Hardwood Lake. And a 14 foot aluminum punt with a yellow strip was taken from Moore Lake.

In addition to these boat thefts, a propane stove, three propane cylinders, a mitre box and some lights were taken from Haliburton Lake.

MTC grants

A number of provincial grants have been approved for Glamorgan Township.

The township will receive $6,700 in special subsidy from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications to assist in the overhaul of a roads department truck.

The township will also receive $1,548 from the Summer Experience program of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation to carry out improvements to the township's recreation master plan.

protection.

Rates of pay for teachers are determined by a grid which takes into consideration their educational qualifications and years of service with the board. Under the contract, elementary school teachers with a minimum of qualifications and years of service with the board. Under the contract, elementary school teachers, with a minimum of qualifications will receive $19,547 per year to a maximum of $27,817, depending on the years of service. Those with the highest qualifications will receive from $28,541 to $50,767, depending on length of service.

At the secondary level, those with minimal qualifications will start at $23,740 rising to $41,445, depending on length of service. At the top end of the grid, teachers with the highest qualifications will receive from $28,541 to $50,769 depending on length of service.

Agricultural Society asks for updated agreement

In the hopes of eliminating some of its expenses, the Minden Agricultural Society is asking Anson, Hindon and Minden council for a new agreement with regard to the use of the fair grounds.

At Thursday's council meeting, Sue Stephens and Geoff Robinson expressed some concern about the "grey areas" in the present agreement with the township.

Robinson said the society has had two written agreements with the township, as well as a number of oral agreements. Some of these are now outdated and are causing confusion and unnecessary expense.

In 1972 the society reached an agreement with the township regarding the use of the community centre. And in 1976 ownership of the lands and buildings in the fair grounds was transferred to the township.

Robinson said there will soon be more changes made to the present agreement. "Therefore now is the time to meet and come to terms on an updated agreement," he said.

The proposed changes to the agreement are as follows:

The township will assume responsibility for the former curling club building, and the society will continue to pay one sixth of the cost of utilities for as long as the building is used; The society will transfer all interests in the washrooms on the fairgrounds to the township at no cost, provided they are available for use during the fair. The society is also asking for the use of the community centre for its fair dance and its beef barbeque.

Robinson explained that washrooms on the fair grounds are perceived by many to be public facilities. He said it is costing the society close to $1,500 a year to maintain them. He also noted that the former curling club building has a limited lifespan and the society is investigating the purchase of tents as an alternative for the fair. Until that time, he said, the society should only be required to pay one sixth of the utilities because it uses the building for such a short period in the season.

Robinson said the fair is a very worthwhile event. "It would be a tragedy if the fair had to be cancelled." He said it is the one time of the year when everyone gets to compete in their personal endeavours. "We're asking that you relieve us of some of our expenses," he told council.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said he would like more time to go over the proposals. No decisions were made at Wednesday's meeting.

Parks work can no longer be neglected

Tucked away somewhere in the vast labyrinths of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township offices are two thick booklets containing some elaborate plans for the development of area parks.

These booklets may be somewhat difficult to locate, however. More than ten years of dust and cobwebs has accumulated since the last time anyone leafed through their pages.

The booklets are Minden's Park Masterplans, and they contain some grand schemes to improve the parks in town. Recommendations in the most recent edition call for spending to the tune of half a million dollars.

The shocking news that none of the recommendations from these plans have been followed up on was revealed at a council meeting last week. Council was in the throes of having yet another plan completed when it discovered this disturbing fact. Understandably, it raised some eyebrows at the meeting.

The masterplans are required by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation in order for a municipality to obtain grants for parks projects. Therefore, we can appreciate why they were completed in the first place. What we can not comprehend is how our council has allowed these plans to be filed away without taking any sort of action.

Since the studies were completed and filed long before this council was elected to office, they can wash their hands of responsibility. However, the matter should not simply be swept aside. The fact that this matter had not been brought to light sooner, and indeed appeared to come as a surprise to councillors Thursday, indicates the channels of information are not flowing freely at town hall.

Perhaps this breakdown can be attributed to the large turnover in staff experienced in recent years. In any case, there is clearly a problem that needs to be resolved.

In regard to the council members who were active at the time these reports were shelved, it is plain to see why they are no longer serving.

The present council has promised that the next report will not be set aside to gather dust. They have made a commitment that, whether or not the ministry is willing to provide funding, they will proceed with whatever work the parks department can afford.

There is a general consensus that Minden's parks are in a sorry state. Let's hope they can now succeed where their predecessors have failed.

Editor:

First, I would like to thank you for your editorial, "Unfortunate delays", June 15, 1987. You were correct in stating that it is a delay and we have not decided to abandon the project. The County House at Minden will be built, however, although not as soon as we would like. If we could have followed the schedule we had planned, many local construction workers and decorators would have been kept busy and next spring 30 to 40 local residents could have started full-time jobs.

As for our objectors, I would like to add that prior to consulting with an architect we took a long look at the site and tried to determine what possible problems we might face and did our best to minimize the impact (as well as assist some of our neighbours with problems they already had.) I think that we came up with the best possible solutions we could. After the site plan was developed, we sent invitations to all property owners within 400 feet of the property to come to the Brown Owl on February 17 to look over the plans and discuss any potential problems they might have and how we might deal with them as neighbours and friends. Most of those who took the time to come, left with a more positive impression of the development.

On June 30, these same property owners were invited to attend a Municipal Council meeting to discuss the project and again we attempted to show how we tried to minimize the impact on our neighbours.

I look forward to the OMB review of the objections lodged against the project and will be happy to abide by their decision. Personally, I feel that there will not be a full hearing and that we will be allowed to continue with our plans. It's just unfortunate that so many jobs will be stalled in order to appease our objectors.

I would like to thank the many people who have expressed their dismay at our delay. Is it really a democracy when the will of the majority suffers from the whims of the minority.

Soil erosion is costly

- by John Eakins, MPP -

My colleague, the Honourable Jack Riddell, Minister of Agriculture and Food, has been busy in the last two years working with farmers to protect both our farmland and our farmers.

Mr. Riddell has been taking major steps in his Ministry's battle against soil erosion which costs the nation about $1 billion a year in lost agricultural productivity.

Whether in Victoria-Haliburton or in Western Canada, our farmers and their problems are always important because of the role agriculture plays in our economy.

Annual soil loss to Ontario agriculture costs an incredible $90 million a year.

Among recent initiatives is the $30 million federal-provincial Soil and Water Environmental Enhancement Program (SWEET). It is aimed at improving soil and water quality in southwestern Ontario by encouraging better soil conservation practices among area farmers.

This year, the ministry also introduced the new $22 million Ontario Soil Conservation and Environmental Protection Assistance Program (OSCEPAP II) to offer farmers increased grants for soil conservation and other projects.

In addition, Mr. Riddell's Ministry has developed new protection for grain growers.

Grain producers who market their corn and soybeans using basis contracts and other deferred pricing arrangements are now covered under the Grain Financial Protection Program.

The changes to the financial protection program should prevent the kind of problems that arose in 1985 when a grain dealer became insolvent. A large number of producers did not receive compensation from the protection fund in that

Hospital expansion

I would like to begin my column this week by first of all welcoming all of our summer cottagers and guests to the beautiful Highlands of Minden and Haliburton.

This week I have chosen to write about the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund for the benefit of our summer visitors. Some time ago, a study was carried out by the Kawartha, Haliburton and Pine Ridge District Health Council identifying the need for 18 chronic care beds to serve the people of Haliburton County. It was decided by the council that the beds should be added as an extension of the present Haliburton Hospital. The 18 additional beds will provide an entirely new programme called "Continuing Care."

Basically, what that means is that a patient, regardless of age, who requires, let's say two or more hours of nursing care per day over a period of time, could be looked after locally rather than being sent out to a Chronic Care facility out of the County, away from family and friends.

The total cost of the new addition is estimated at $1,375,000. The Province will provide grants to cover $875,000 and the County of Haliburton will provide another $266,000. This leaves around $240,000 to be raised by public donations. So far the response from the Minden end of the County has been tremendous. Just to name a few, the Rotary Club of Minden has donated $12,156, the Kinsmen and Kinettes of Minden have donated $3,000, the Minden OPP $500, Staunworth

Court $120, not to mention the donations from many generous residents and cottagers.

The Haliburton and Minden Lions Clubs are working together to sell tickets on a beautiful piece of lakefront property on Kennis Lake with the proceeds going toward the hospital. The tickets are $25 each with only a limited number of tickets to be sold. You will no doubt be approached by the Lions members to buy a ticket. Please support them if you can.

The Highway 35 Association is going to have a Bowlathon later this year with the proceeds going to the hospital fund. The lanes are being provided on November 7 courtesy of the Carnarvon Bowling Lanes. There are a number of other activities planned to raise funds but the size of my columns does not permit me to go on and on.

Just one final note. Both the Minden and Haliburton hospitals are owned and operated by Saint Joseph's General Hospital in Peterborough. The funds for the expansion are being administered by the Saint Joseph's Hospital of Peterborough Foundation. All donations are deductible for income tax purposes and receipts will be issued. Local residents, cottagers or guests can make their cheques payable to the Haliburton Hospital Expansion fund and mail them to Box 894 Minden, or drop them off, if they so wish, at either the Bank of Commerce or the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Minden. Can you help? Think about it!

Water bomber

Report from Ottawa

- by Bill Scott, MP -

Over the past few weeks I have received updated information on a few government programs which, while not altogether new government initiatives, will, I think, be of interest to many of you.

From the Minister of Energy:

Householders interested in saving energy and increasing the comfort of their homes can take advantage of free help from Energy, Mines and Resources Canada (EMR).

EMR offers a variety of publications that will help you make informed energy management decisions. These booklets and fact sheets are available free of charge to householders across the country.

To receive your energy savings kit write to:

Distribution, Home Energy Programs, Energy, Mine and Resources Canada, 580 Booth Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0E4.

When ordering your free energy savings kit, specify home heating systems or home energy improvements and don't forget to include your complete name, and postal address and telephone number.

From the Minister of Health and Welfare:

Alzheimer's Disease has attracted a great deal of attention in a very short period of time. In fact, a projected $8 million will be spent this year on mental health research, including over $1 million on Alzheimer's research and the momentum continues.

Small turnout for Ducks Unlimited

Ducks Unlimited was established to prevent ducks from "going the way of the passenger pigeon" David Thompson, provincial Supervisor, told a handful of people hoping to form a local chapter Wednesday.

Besides the press and two representatives of Ducks Unlimited, only two people attended the organizational meeting for a local chapter in the Anson, Hindon and Minden council chambers Wednesday night. However, Thomson expressed confidence that an active committee can be formed to raise funds for the group's work.

The hard part, he said, is getting the initial core group of eight to twelve members to organize the first sportsmen's dinner. After the first event is carried off, there will likely be a waiting list of people wanting to join, he said.

The Ducks Unlimited Sportsmen Dinners are the main fundraising events for the organization. "Some people have the idea they will be asked to put on hip waders and go planting wild rice," he said. However, he says this work is left to the professional staff.

Thomson says Ducks Unlimited is not a hunter's self interest group. He said it was formed after constant monitoring revealed a serious decline in duck populations in North America. In the late 1800's, he said there were more than 400 million ducks in North America. This dwindled to 200 million by the turn of the century. And in 1930 there were only 40 million, or one tenth of the original population.

The main reason for the decline is the loss of wetlands to farming and other forms of development, he said. While he says there is no real shortage of wetland, much of what is available is unsuitable for the ducks.

This is where Ducks Unlimited concentrates its efforts. After aerial observation of these wetlands, Ducks Unlimited will contact the property owners and make a proposal to revitalize the swamps and marshes. With the owners' approval, biologists will then go into the property and design a specific project, which normally includes draining the water and building dams to maintain constant levels.

One such project that Thomson told about cost the group $36,000. It also improved the reproduction of ducks in that area from three or four broods a year to 200 to 300 ducks a year. He said there is also the added spinoff in increased populations of other wildlife.

In order to carry out this work, a great deal of fundraising must first take place, said Thomson. This is where groups such as the one being formed here come into play. The annual Sportsmen's banquets, which feature auctions and raffles, raise the bulk of the money used in revitalizing these wetlands.

This year Ducks Unlimited hopes to raise $7.5 million in Canada and another $60 million in the U.S.

County leads way in Seniors' care

physical, spiritual and economic needs that exist in any other stage of a person's life."

Therefore, he says the outside community has a major role to play in meeting these needs. "They (the residents) need to feel a part of the community. Just because they live in a larger home than most, it doesn't mean their needs change. Their capabilities may change, but they still have the same needs."

Often, church and social groups show an interest in the home, he says. They will arrange tea parties, or put on plays and skits to entertain the residents. He also says he tries to invite school children to visit as often as possible. The residents enjoy the company. And once the students overcome the initial fear, Samuelson says they also enjoy the experience.

"Children are afraid at first when they come here," he says. However, he says he will give an example by striking up a conversation with one of the residents, and the children will soon join in. "Once the children get to meet the residents, they realize old people are just like young people," he says. "They like to play, they like to laugh...they like to enjoy life."

While Haliburton is already faced with a senior population that, by percentage, is double the provincial average, Samuelson says it has not yet hit its peak here. "Given the need today for extended care services, as evidenced by the waiting list, Hyland Crest may one day see an expansion," he said. The waiting list to get into the home has about a dozen names and he is expecting it will grow in the future. "The need is there and it will increase. There is no sign of the aging population decreasing."

While he says the overall care for seniors in the county is very good, he feels there is always room for improvement. "We'll never reach Utopia because it doesn't exist. However, we would be negligent if we didn't strive for it."

In the immediate future, Samuelson hopes to see better co-ordination of services among the various agencies. As Hyland Crest, County Social Services and the home support program become more aware of each other's roles, he says they will find a better provision of services that will be more cost effective.

Mark Schell, kitchen supervisor at Hyland Crest, delivers a cup of tea and muffin to Fennie Jenkins. Schell is one of the qualified staff who feels that Hyland Crest is a special place to work.

"Strict is fair" in effect

The Ontario Provincial Police will continue the "strict is fair" enforcement policy on both the province's highways and waterways throughout the Canada Day holiday period and coming summer months.

The Canada Day holiday marks the beginning of the summer vacation period, a time when school is out and the volume of roadway and marine traffic reaches the seasonal peak and increases the chances of tragic accidents.

During last year's Canada Day holiday, which fell on a Tuesday, not a single life was lost on Ontario roads patrolled by the OPP.

The "Strict is Fair" program has proved to be an effective method of reducing accidents and death," said OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson.

"In the interest of public safety, we will continue to place emphasis on both road and marine safety through the R.I.D.E. and marine awareness programs," the commissioner added.

OPP traffic patrol officers throughout the province will be paying special attention to impaired driving, excessive speed, seat belt use and bad driving habits with R.I.D.E. spot checks and radar units.

Marine officers, equipped with alcohol breath testers, will be looking out for the impaired boaters as well as unsafe vessels, overloading, the lack of safety equipment such as life jackets, careless waterskiing and reckless boating.

Major donations to fund

Barb Dawson, chairman of the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund public subscription drive, reports that a number of major donations have been received recently for the facility.

- The Rotary Club of Minden donated $12,156, the cost to furnish a double room in the hospital.

- the Kinette Club of Minden donated $1,000 from monies raised selling refreshments during the recent Ride for Sight.

- the Fort Irwin Residents Association representing property owners in that community and Haliburton Lake, donated $1,000.

- Haliburton Highlands Little Theatre group donated $500 from proceeds received from their spring production, 'Play On'.

The new total for the public subscription portion of the drive is now $154,524.87. The target for this sector is $240,000.

Books to India

Grade 8 students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School have made a second donation of music books to a school for the blind in South India with the money raised through dances at the school.

Earlier in the year, the Grade 8 Band raised $50 by performing during the Wintario draw night in Minden. With this they purchased three violin music books which were sent to Malhia Joshua at the school for the blind in India.

The Archie Stouffer School dance committee recently raised another $63 through its dances to buy yet more books.

In a letter to the students, Mr. Malhia says "the content of the books is a treasure as far as a musician is concerned." He said he is able to play all the exercises in the books, but the systematic grading, music theory and the structural details about the violin are all new to him.

He thanked the students for the "initiative and pain taken in connection with purchasing and sending the music books."

Let those froggies go

On June 15 at Provincial Offences Court in Peterborough, Brian Ireland of Young's Point, Smith Township was convicted of unlawfully possessing Bullfrogs during the closed season. He was fined a total of $750.00 and his equipment, consisting of a light and 12 volt battery were permanently confiscated.

Testimony at his trial revealed Mr. Ireland was checked by Conservation Officers from the Minden District at 1:30 a.m. on June 2 near Buckhorn. He was found to have three sacks containing 343 Bullfrogs in his vehicle.

The Officers were able to release the Bullfrogs alive.

Investigating Officer was Barry Walker.

The open season for Bullfrogs is from July 21 to October 15 in each year. Individuals may have 10 Bullfrogs in their possession under a free permit available from the Ministry of Natural Resources for personal use. Anyone wishing to take Bullfrogs for sale or barter must obtain a $25.00 licence.

Junior ball teams have shaky start

The season for the newly formed Haliburton County Junior fastball league is finally underway and the two Minden teams are off to a shaky start.

Moynes JAC Kernohan lost their opening two games to Haliburton by scores of 26-3 and 11-3. Except for a disastrous second inning the team played well in their first game. Of the 26

Haliburton runs, 21 were scored in the second inning. Scoring the runs for Moynes were Greg Cairns, Hunter Obce and Joey Boyle.

Their second game was played in Lochlin because the Minden diamonds were busy. Showing some improvement from their first game, they held Haliburton to an 11-3 score, allowing six runs in the third inning. Scoring for Moynes were Kent Taylor, Joey Boyle and Craig Smith.

Coaches Kevin Smith and Lennie Johnston said the team showed great improvement in their second game. They are hoping to see more competitive games as the season progresses.

Unfortunate start

Minden's Home Hardware squad was completely overpowered by West Guilford in their opening games. They lost their first by a resounding 60-0 and fared little better in the second game as they went down 56-0.

The team is at a disadvantage in this league, facing bigger and older players.

Home Hardware players who stood out in these early-season games were Jaime Dollo and Wyatt Nesbitt.

Minden Moynes JAC Kernohan would like to thank Paul Sisson for umpiring a fair game. Both Minden teams are appreciative of their sponsors for getting them started.

Gets special award

Minden resident Wendy Ballantyne has received a special award at Sir Sandford Fleming College Academic Awards presentation for the School of Health Sciences and Applied Arts. The presentation was made June 12.

Wendy received the Peterborough and District

Association for the Mentally Retarded Award. The award is presented to a graduate student of the Early Childhood Education Program who has shown exceptional ability in identifying and meeting the needs of the special child.

Leona Schofield presented the award to Wendy.

Celebrate 100th

The Rt. Reverend Terrence Finlay will be the guest celebrant and preacher as St. Peter's Anglican Church congregation commemorates its 100th anniversary on June 29.

Following a service at the church, a dinner will be held at the Stanhope Firefighter's Hall at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend as the congregation begins a year of celebration.

Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund Minden co-ordinator Bill Kulas accepts a cheque in the amount of $1,000 from Susan Ripley president of Minden Kinetite Club and Kinetite Yvonne Nye. The donation was made possible through the operation of a refreshment stand at the Ride for Sight held recently in Minden.

Program encourages activity

by K.Hodgson McMahon

Haliburton County has two communities "Stepping Out and Counting." In Wilberforce 15 eager walkers under the convenorship of Dorothea de la Harpe are racking up the miles. They walk as often and as far as each individual wants to - the program is to encourage everyone to get active and watch the results. It is a competition and thirteen of Haliburton's Older Adults have taken up the challenge.

What is going on? In April Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre offered a challenge to all Older Adults to start to be more active by participating in a walking program. Everyone is encouraged to walk at their own rate daily (or as often as they feel capable of - it is entirely up to the individual how active they are.) Once a week the group comes together to tally their miles for the week and record them. Then the group goes on a community walk for a social time and it provides an opportunity to encourage each other to keep going.

On August 27, 1987 at 12 noon there will be a picnic for all participants and the top ten will receive prizes. Some prizes donated to date are hats from Lakeview Lodge Cottages and T-shirts from the Sports Stop. Wilberforce's top walker has covered 139 miles and Haliburton is close behind with 107 miles. Keep going and good luck!

case because outstanding balances were owed under basis contracts.

The Grain Financial Protection Program, introduced in the fall of 1984, covers corn and soybean growers from default by licensed grain dealers. The program guarantees producers 90 per cent of the market value of the grain at the date of default.

Under the new rules for contract sales, producers will be covered for losses on written deferred pricing arrangements if the agreement called for final pricing of the grain based on the futures market. Producers must also receive at least 75 per cent of the current market value of the grain when the contract is signed and the ownership transferred.

As much as 40 per cent of the Ontario corn and soybean crop is sold under basis contracts or other deferred pricing agreements each year.

Curlers host golf tournament

submitted

On Tuesday, June 16, Minden Senior curlers held the spring golf tournament at Beaverbrook Golf Course. The weather was with us and except for high winds, you could not ask for a better day. And by the way, those high winds get blamed for many of the poor shots.

The "Best Ball" golf game started off around noon and finished around five o'clock. Much of the success for the golf day was attributable to Gill Scott and Bill O'Neill with Jane Graham collecting and keeping charge of all monies.

There were over 60 golfers in attendance and from comments made, a good day was had by all. Some fantastic scores were attained and 14 prizes were distributed in the following categories.

The team first prize best score was taken home by Skip Frank Codlin with a score of 34. Frank was ably assisted by Eric Lewis, Ruby Kennedy and Millie Boskett.

The second prize went to Earl McDonald's team who had 36 points. This team included Dave McAdam, Lee Oster and Hazel Maxwell.

Longest drive prize on the 4th hole for the ladies was captured by Glenda Robertson with Ed Guertin doing the honours for the men.

Longest drive for men on 9th hole went to Roly Scott and the ladies prize went to Merle Codlin.

Closest to the hole prize on No. 8 was taken by Frank Codlin with Fern Donnelly beating out all the other ladies.

Rally results

A team of drivers from London, Ontario have been named winners of the Black Bear Car Rally held May 30 in Minden.

Bjorn Anderson and Brian Jackson were the top finishers in the all-day event which started on the community's Main Street. The pair took first place driving a 1986 Toyota Corolla.

Second spot in the event was taken by the team of John Lutterberger of Kitchener and Roderick MacDonald of Grimsby. They were driving a 1980 Nissan 510.

Third place over-all went to Randy Black of Oakville and David Gill of Scarborough in a 1980 Toyota TE 72.

35 teams took part in the annual event.

At five o'clock we retired to the Curling Club for a social hour where the days happenings were discussed in great detail and all kinds of excuses were voiced.

Next on the agenda we enjoyed a cold buffet following which our president Ed Pettinger thanked all committees for their valiant effort in a well run day.

President Ed then turned the meeting over to Ralph Kennedy for the presentation of prizes and a joke or two.

Muriel Reimer, who very ably collected the money at the door for the buffet, announced she had donated a door prize which was won by Angela O'Neill.

The president closed the meeting by announcing we had over 90 people attending the buffet which is indicative of how much these gatherings are enjoyed. He also mentioned we would be having another outing in September.

In soccer action June 14, Haliburton shut out a visiting Muskoka team by a score of 7-0. It was Haliburton's first win of the season.

'Young ambassadors' arrive soon

In preparation for the arrival of 14 Canadian and Pakistani youths in Haliburton Village, Sharry Aiken is hard at work trying to arrange for billeting families.

Aiken, a group leader with the Canada World Youth program, has been in the village since May 20 making all the necessary arrangements for the arrival of these young ambassadors. However, she says there is still a need for families willing to take them into their homes during their three-month stay here.

"I realize it can be a big commitment," says Aiken. The youths will be here for ten weeks during a time when many people will be taking their vacations. For this reason she says she is not trying to sell it on anyone. "Those involved should do it because they want to."

The youths' stay here will be the first leg of a seven-month learning experience, with the second stage in Pakistan. The seven Canadians have been selected from across the country to participate in the exchange. They will be paired with seven participants from Pakistan, who have been selected by that country's ministry of education.

Canada World Youth has sponsored youth exchanges with various developing nations for the past 15 years. During 1977 and 1978, 19 different country exchanges will take place across Canada. The program is intended to foster cross-cultural communications and a growing awareness of social and economic issues both in Canada and abroad.

Since arriving in Haliburton a month ago, Aiken said she has found the community to be "incredibly warm and receptive." She said the village was chosen at random to be one of three host communities this year. "We were looking for small communities this year," she said. Other host communities will be Bancroft, Picton and Tweed.

"The program is set up in such a way that the community is the classrooms," says Aiken. "Through diverse work experience, the participants get a sense of what the local economy is all about."

Upon arrival here on July 22, the group will set to work a project designed as sort of an advance repayment to the community for what it has offered them. In Haliburton's case the project will be the completion of a rock garden for the horticultural society. "The idea is to give something back to the community," explains Aiken.

While on the program the participants will live with families and work as volunteers in the area of education, social services, small business and agriculture. Integration into the family and workplace, as well as taking part in daily activities is a very important part of the exchange.

Aikens says this integration allows the participants to learn about the socio-economic realities of the area. With this year's theme of international co-operation, "hopefully we can begin to build a more open understanding of each other," she said.

Families interested in billeting two of the youths are encouraged to contact Aiken at 457-1740. Some funding is provided by Canada World Youth to offset costs.

Suspected something fishy

In an unprecedented move, the administrators of the "Molson Export" Big Fish Contest have plucked the prizes from two of the top 1986 entries.

Lance Males, who is in charge of the contest for the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH), explained, "Even before the contest judging, we were suspicious of both the first and second place fish in our live release musky category. Unfortunately, until this week we couldn't actually prove anything.... but we finally did."

Minnesota resident, Robert Skuza originally claimed to have caught a muskellunge in Rainy Lake that measured 49-3/4" (126.365 cm) in length. His entry form stated the fish had a 30-3/4" (78.105 cm) girth.

His father, Ellard Skuza, entered a fish supposed to have a 48-3/4" (123.825 cm) length and a 30" (76.2 cm) girth. Photos submitted with both entries did not seem to collaborate the huge size claimed for the two fish, but no proof to the contrary could be produced, despite an intense investigation by OFAH staff.

Failing any hard evidence when they met in mid-December, the Federation's Big Fish Contest judges and officials felt they had no choice but to award first and second places to the two Skuza fish. Federation staff continued to investigate their suspicions and were pleased to receive assistance from knowledgeable musky anglers in both the United States and Canada.

Finally, during another telephone call from Mr.

Males, Robert Skuza admitted both he and his father must have made mistakes; their fish were not as large as claimed on their entry forms. Mr. Skuza agreed to return the Berkley rods and reels and cash prizes he and his father had been awarded. The first place prize of an Evinrude electric fishing motor had not yet been delivered.

First place will now be awarded to Robert Hruska of Mississauga, while second will go to Paul Curran of Toronto and third to Roger Halverson of Fergus Falls, Minnesota. Their trophy fish were caught and released in the Trent River, Georgian Bay and Lake of the Woods, respectively. The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, which has operated the "Molson Export" Big Fish Contest for 28 years, is Ontario's largest provincial conservation organization.

Dear Readers,

More nice weather but yesterday had to rain all day as we were on a bus trip to Peterborough and a cruise up the Trent Severn Waterways on the Otonabee river. We left the dock at 1:30, went through a small lift lock, a large lock and to the lake. It really was quite an experience for the first time. We arrived back in Peterborough at 5:30 had dinner at Kentucky Fried Chicken and were back at Hyland Crest by 8 p.m.

Doris is away today with a bus load of berry pickers from here.

Sunday evening our chapel service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess and Mrs. Burgess, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Tuesday morning we had Rev. Kent from Minden Baptist Church.

We had a barbeque lunch at the back door today. It was pretty hot out there but nice.

Our afternoon tea was served by the ladies of Lutterworth Pines. It was lovely as usual and we had Mrs. Brown to entertain us with her monologue "Souvenirs". It seemed to please everyone. Mrs. Todd came home from hospital but had to go for x-rays etc., today.

Winnie Barnum had dinner out with her son Terry of Haliburton on Saturday. I am sorry to report Edna Cowan on our list of sick folks again. We sure hope she will soon be well.

We were really glad to have Mrs. Coburn back last week to sing for us and we hope she will come again.

I am glad to say Mrs. Burgess is well again. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron from Peterborough came on Wednesday afternoon and took their sister Winnie Barnum to Haliburton to see her son and then out to dinner before returning.

All for this week.

Guild news

by Elene J. Freer

If you have been wondering about the sound of laughter recently heard coming from within the Rails' End Gallery, it is simply Holly, Norma, David and I busily preparing for the next show. This is really not as strange as it first seems especially when the next show is called "The Lighter Side of Life."

What is "The Lighter Side of Life"? It is a zany collection of complete whimsy, total frivolity, sheer nonsense and quiet amusement. Both past and present faculty members from the Haliburton School of Fine Arts have let their humorous imaginations soar when creating pieces for this show. If you have ever wondered what a crowline for square crowns looks like or how a fabric and plaster violin would sound, then this is the show to see. Be prepared to have your funny bone tickled. Smiles, giggles and laughs guaranteed.

"The Lighter Side of Life" opens with a public reception on July 2, 1987 at 7:30 p.m.

Get ready for the Summer Sale and Exhibition. Opening night ceremonies are Friday, July 3 at 7:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be Joan Foster of the Ontario Craft Council.

The three judges will have been working all day Friday so that when visitors arrive they not only will see a wide variety of well designed articles, but a chance to see all the award winning pieces.

Exhibitors, do remember to call the gallery and book your working hours immediately. We are looking for 20 more volunteers. This is your show!

Your health

Immunization is important

by Stephen Dawson, M.D.

For the next week or two I'd like to discuss the role of immunization in combatting certain infectious diseases. With advancing age, certain infections such as pneumonia and influenza occur more commonly, frequently requiring admission to hospital resulting in severe physical distress and often even death.

As the population over age 65 grows, we can now anticipate that more people will be suffering from such illnesses and emphasis must be shifted to disease prevention even at an advanced age.

Immunization of the elderly against influenza, tetanus and pneumonia is an important measure in prevention.

Influenza is an acute respiratory infection occurring in the winter months. Although all age groups are afflicted, it is the elderly population or patients suffering from chronic heart or lung disease, diabetes, immune deficiencies, kidney disease, anemia and cancers that are more likely going to have more serious outcomes.

Today there are influenza vaccines ('flu shots') available that are quite potent with few adverse reactions.

The young adults controlled studies have shown 70% protection against influenza. Elderly patients received less protection than their younger counterparts, but when they did get influenza, there was a significant decrease in fatalities.

It is for this reason that we strongly recommend annual influenza vaccination for all individuals over 65, patients with heart and lung disease, diabetes, kidney disease or anemia.

We encourage these people to arrange for this, often life-saving, vaccine which is given in the early fall.

Next week I'll discuss other infectious diseases that can be prevented by vaccinations.
